

Volunteers Required for Equal Opportunity Cell and Braille Library of The University of Delhi

The Equal Opportunity Cell and the Braille Library of University of Delhi provide reading facilities and other support services to Students with Disabilities, particularly the visually impaired. Much of these support services are provided with the help of volunteers who should have good reading and computer skills as well as sensitivity towards persons with disabilities.

The volunteers in the Braille Library of the University are expected to primarily do audio recording of English, Hindi, Sanskrit, Urdu, Punjabi etc. books in the three studios of the Braille Library. Very good pronunciation in either of these languages and studio friendly voice along with good reading skills is an essential requirement. The volunteers at Equal Opportunity Cell provide reading, writhing, Scanning, Online filling of forms and other assistance to students with disabilities. Good reading and computer skills are expected from these volunteers.

The assignments are purely part time and short term in nature and carry an honorarium of Rs. 150/- per audio recording output hour in the braille library and Rs. 50/- per hour for volunteering at EOC. A volunteer is normally expected to put in around 3-4 hours every day on working days. He or She should preferably be a student of University of Delhi. The assignment does not carry any right of the volunteer towards selection and/or continuation and the volunteer, if selected, may be asked to discontinue his/her services without any notice what so ever.

Those interested in working as volunteers as per the above details should send their bio-data latest by 5th March, 2018 on email id: osdeoc@gmail.com giving complete particulars, ID proof and a photograph along with the proof of being a student of Delhi University if applicable.
